Dear Parents,

This week will be titled "Do You Hear What I Hear" as we focus on the sense of hearing. We will discover that our outer ear is made up of cartilage just like our nose, and that it acts like a funnel to send sounds inside our ear. We will also learn that the smallest bones in our body are inside our ear. They are the hammer, anvil, and stirrup and when connected are no larger than a penny. We will find that our ears also help to balance. Vocabulary consists of: October, cartilage, hammer, anvil, stirrup, and vibration.

Work with letter Ss will be completed and the letter Hh will be introduced. The children will be printings H and h and will explore the objects in the Hh tub we will also be using plastic pieces to build the letters: T, t, F, f, S, s, and Hh. Sounds will be reviewed and reinforced by playing letter/sound games.

We will continue work with numeral 4, as the children count a variety of objects and sequence numerals 0-1-2-3-4. The square shape will be introduced as we build triangles and squares using plastic pieces. We will be using squares for pattern sequencing and will be counting to 20.

Mr. Wizard will introduce the color green as we mix blue and yellow paint to form this new color.

Work with Phonemic Awareness continues as a feature of our curriculum.
